GENERAL COMMENTS

Cash corn prices are mostly steady across the U.S. this week, with basis weakening slightly. Prices for DDGS FOB ethanol plants are continuing their rally, rising $17/MT while Kansas City soymeal prices have fallen by an equal amount. DDGS are priced at 177 percent of cash corn values, up from last week and above the three-year average of 106 percent. The DDGS/cash corn ratio remains at its highest level since 2016. The DDGS/soymeal price ratio is 0.65, up from the prior week and above the three-year average of 0.42.

DDGS prices are slightly lower this week as buyers have filled near-term needs and as merchandisers/exporters assess what ethanol/DDGS production prospects will be over the coming months. Barge CIF NOLA values are $4/MT lower for spot shipment while FOB Gulf offers are steady-to-$1/MT higher. DDGS delivered via rail to U.S. destinations are $3/MT lower for April delivery and steady for May and June. Offers for 40-foot containers to Asian destinations are slightly lower with values for April shipment falling $6/MT on average. Values for May positions are generally holding their values, while June shipment offers are $2-4/MT lower.

OCEAN FREIGHT MARKET

Vessel owners are in crisis mode and, like everyone else, are trying to figure out when economic conditions will improve. The good news this week is that physical freight markets were relatively steady. Vessel owners and operators are hoping that the markets may have finally found the bottom. On the container side, there has been an increase in the removal of capacity and, therefore, blank sailings. These markets, like all others, desperately need global economies to get back to work.

There have been additional COVID19 requirements placed at some Brazilian and Argentine ports. This has contributed to some delays, but overall grain shipments continue to move well. The Panama Canal continues to experience transit slowdowns and delays due to low water.
